

Enhancements to FTSE Global High-Yield Index Offering

As part of its commitment to provide market-leading solutions for global credit investors, FTSE Russell are pleased to announce a series of enhancements to its index offering for global high-yield markets. Effective July 2021, the FTSE European High-Yield Market Index will be rebranded as the FTSE Pan-European High-Yield Market Index to reflect its existing broad coverage of EUR-, GBP- and CHF-denominated debt. Additionally, the existing $5 billion minimum market size restriction will no longer apply to the index as part of its inclusion criteria. No change to index membership is expected to result from this change.

To facilitate modular sub-asset class analysis and performance tracking, sub-indexes by currency denomination will also now be made available to index users as part of our standard data packages. The complete index offering is available for distribution through FTSE Russell's existing data distribution platform and on various index redistribution platforms.
