

Reminder: Changes to FTSE Pan-European High-Yield Indexes

In April 2021, FTSE Russell announced a series of enhancements to its index offering for global high-yield markets. Effective with July 2021 profiles, the FTSE European High-Yield Market Index will be rebranded as the FTSE Pan-European High-Yield Bond Index to reflect its existing broad coverage of EUR-, GBP- and CHF-denominated debt. Additionally, the existing $5 billion minimum market size criteria will be removed from index rules. No change to index inclusion is projected as a result of this change.

Additionally, modular indexes by currency denomination will be made available from July 2021 profiles as part of our standard data packages. These include the addition of the FTSE Euro High-Yield Bond Index and the FTSE Sterling High-Yield Bond Index. For additional details, factsheets for these indexes can be found on our website.
